TWENTY-SECOND YEAR.

DEATH IS NEAR.

The Czar is Seized With a Series of Convulsions.

His Death Cannot be Now Long Delayed.

DUKE GEORGE DYING.

The Czarina is Also Reported to be Ill.

Princess Alix Summoned to Receive Emperor's Blessing.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 20.—The latest reports received here from Livadia indicate that although the czar is still alive, he is rapidly weakening.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—When the contents of the bulletin issued in St. Petersburg at 8 o'clock last night became generally known today, there was a certain feeling of relief in knowing that the czar still lives, as the official silence of the previous twenty-four hours created intense anxiety.

The bulletin referred to was a dispatch from Livadia, saying that the czar had passed the night of the 18th almost sleepless. It was added that his majesty rose in the morning (Friday) as usual, although he was suffering from great weakness and the action of the heart had not changed.

In addition the edema of the feet, which had previously appeared, had increased. The general condition of the patient, however, was unchanged. This bulletin was signed by the five doctors in attendance upon the czar and was cabled to the Associated Press last night.

Private advices from Livadia state that towards midday the graver symptoms continued. These advices add that his majesty was terribly depressed throughout the day.

St. Petersburg advices of this morning say that prayers are being offered up to-day throughout the Russian empire for the recovery of the czar and it is also stated that great impatience is manifested at the scantiness of official news sent out in regard to the condition of his majesty. Early this afternoon a dispatch from St. Petersburg announced that the latest reports received there from Livadia state that although the czar was still alive he was rapidly weakening.

The striking fact in connection with the czar's illness is the difference of opinion regarding the exact nature of the malady from which the Russian emperor is suffering. The Figaro, for instance, today declares that the symptoms disagree with the usual symptoms of kidney disease, and states that there is a conflicting inside to the czar's illness which has perplexed his physicians. The Figaro adds that one of the czar's sisters, a fortnight ago, received an official communication stating that the czar was suffering from a tumor below the left kidney, respecting which the doctor's diagnosis was as follows:

Prof. Zacharin was convinced that it was cancerous and impossible to operate upon. This was his ground for recently informing the czar that he could not possibly live as the disease was incurable.

Prof. Leyden, however, was more optimistic, and after a careful study of the symptoms of the czar's trouble, expressed the belief that it was true that tumor existed, but he added, in a tone of a benign nature, and calmly:

The Figaro then proceeds to make the startling statement that the czar has been badly nursed and that the arrangements for his care were quite of a primitive nature.

The Figaro did not give its authority for making its latest assertion. The statement is somewhat unkind, as it is known that the czar's most assiduous nurse has been the czar's wife, who according to rumor has broken down under the strain of attending continually upon her dying husband.

There is no doubt that outside of Russia the greatest concern for the health of the czar is felt in France.

The Temps, in an article which may be regarded as an expression of the general feeling of sympathy of the French people, says that there is not a corner of France where prayers have not been offered up for the recovery of the czar, and not a household in France where his illness is not the chief topic of conversation.

Dispatches received from various parts of France quite bear out the truth of the statements made by the Temps.

The czar, since the fetes at Toulon, following the arrival there of the Russian squadron under Admiral Avelan, has everywhere in the French republic been considered as the life ally of France and one could hardly enter a peasant's cottage or farm house without finding that the central feature displayed on the walls is the colored print which was distributed broadcast at the time of the Russian festivities.

This print represents the czar as offering his hand to the late President Carnot with the fleets of Cronstadt and Toulon squadrons in the background.

PRAYERS FOR THE CZAR SUNDAY.

The Reformed Church Orders Them in All Its Temples.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—A dispatch from Paris to the Daily News says that the consistory of the Reformed church has ordered that prayers be offered for the czar on Sunday in all its temples. The dispatch adds that tidings received by Grand Duke Alexis afford little room for hope that his majesty's life will be prolonged until Sunday.

Dr. Germain Bee, who some time ago was consulted by Dr. Zacharin and Hirsch, on the subject of the czar's illness, says that nobody suffering with such an ailment, ought to be allowed to travel. It would be a mistake, he adds, to move the czar.

CHAZARIN, AKA DUKE GEORGE DYING.

The Whole Family Seems to Be Seriously Affected.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 20.—It is stated on the best authority that the czarina is very ill, and that her son, Grand Duke George, is dying.

It is also stated on the same authority that the czar before his illness entered upon its final stages, had a solemn interview with the czarowitz, during which he indicated to the latter the policy which he desired him to pursue after his death, and also insisted upon his marriage to Princess Alix, who was summoned to Livadia to receive the dying blessing of the czar. The theaters will be closed for six months after the death of the czar.

A LATER REPORT.

The Czar Has Had a Series of Convulsions and Is Dying.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—According to a dispatch from St. Petersburg, published by the National Zeitung this afternoon, and according to special information from a medical authority now at Livadia, the czar, during the last forty-eight hours, has been seized with a series of convulsive attacks accompanied for several hours by temporary unconsciousness. It is added that his death cannot be long delayed.

JOHN MACDONALD RETURNS

Delighted With the Telegraph System in Britain Which the Government Runs.

John MacDonald and son Roderick returned today from Scotland. Mr. MacDonald left Scotland thirty-two years ago, and has not visited his home since that time until he made his present trip. He found his mother, who is now eighty years old, enjoying the best of health. His former home was in Gaidlock, Ross-shire, which is thirty miles from a railroad.

Mr. MacDonald reached New York October 10, and has been visiting in New York, Washington and Chicago since.

"I am glad to get back under the stars and stripes," said he. "I am more than ever satisfied that this is the best country and Kansas the best state in the world."

He found great improvements in many things and some were just as he left them. The railroad system there is admirable, they are fifty years behind America, but their telegraph system is a great improvement over ours. It is a part of the postal system and the lines are not confined to railway systems. I was thirty miles from a railroad and I could telegraph to the court of England or any other place for that matter. The cost is only 12 cents for twelve words and 1 cent for each additional word. I do not know whether the system would succeed in this country or not—the area of the country may operate against it here. [The government owns the telegraphs in Great Britain.]

"The mass of the people are living better than when I left, and I think general conditions have very much improved."

"Tolerance has made great progress. I was offered a glass of whisky in nearly every house I visited. At one place the minister drew the cork and seemed surprised when I did not follow his example. There are some total abstainers now and less drunkensomeness."

"The schools have greatly improved and they have a compulsory education law which compels every child to attend during the entire year of ten months."

"The sentiment in that country is in favor of home rule and abolishing of the house of lords. I found a curiosity in a socialist with whom I rode on a train. His views were in exact harmony with those expounded by Bellamy but he was in favor of a single gold standard."

BEING ARGUED.

The Injunction Against Secretary Osborn Being Tried This Afternoon.

The injunction suit to prevent Secretary of State Osborn from allowing the name of Jerry Simpson to appear on the Seventh district Democratic ticket, is being argued this afternoon in the district court. Although the case was set for two o'clock, the lawyers did not get started until 3 o'clock, and it will require at least two hours to dispose of the matter. Attorney Safford takes no part in the controversy, although the injunction was brought in his name. Eugene Hazan represents those who wish the injunction made perpetual, and W. C. Webb represents the secretary of state. D. C. Zacher is there with a big pile of documentary evidence. The defense will be on the ground that the decision of the examining board, composed of Secretary Osborn, Attorney General Little, and Auditor Prather, is final, and subject to no appeal.

DIDN'T BLUFF REED.

Frank Herald's Subordinate Couldn't Infringe Judge Joseph.

Joseph Reed, ex-commissioner of elections went with a colored acquaintance to Frank Herald's office this morning to register. Deputy Frank Whitaker asked the colored man whose name is Ewing where he lived.

"On Central avenue near Washington."

"We don't want to know 'near' where you live, but where," insisted Whitaker.

Reed came to Ewing's rescue and said: "He lives on Central, between Washington and Central."

"Shut up," said Whitaker, "he must tell where he lives himself."

"I won't shut up," replied Reed, "and you can't make me. I have half a mind to throw you through that window. I have a right here and I want this man registered without any more foolishness."

The man was duly registered.

FIRST WOMEN DEMOCRATS.

The First Woman's Democratic Club Formed in Colorado.

DENVER, Oct. 20.—The Colorado woman's Democratic club of which Mrs. Mary V. Macon is president and Mrs. Anna M. Cochran secretary, is the first woman's club placed upon the membership roll of the National Association of Democratic clubs.

Chauncey F. Black, president, in a letter regarding the eligibility of women's clubs to membership wrote: "We ought to be happy to welcome the women's clubs in every state and especially in those states where women vote."

WE WON'T OBJECT.

United States is Willing to Have Mexico Take Charge of Central America.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A special to the World from Guatemala says: It is reported that the United States government has privately assured Mexico that it would not be averse to seeing Mexico take charge of Central America, preserve the peace and protect American citizens.

DEFENDS LEWELLING.

Senator Martin Flies to the Rescue of the Governor.

Says There's No Purer Man Than Lewelling.

WHAT DOES HE MEAN?

Martin It is Said Has Instructed Postmasters

To Work for and Vote the Populist Ticket.

United States Senator John Martin has thrown his Democracy overboard for the remainder of the campaign if his own words mean anything.

Senator Martin has, it is said, since last Sunday, written no less than sixty-nine letters a day to the Democratic postmasters of Kansas asking them to lend their support to the election of the Populist candidates for the legislature.

In addition to this Senator Martin has given out a lengthy interview stating his views of the political situation which the politicians of all parties interpret to mean a policy in my own mind and discuss them.

"What I may do hereafter in this campaign will be governed largely by circumstances. The convention which nominated the Democratic ticket was composed of Democrats of undoubted loyalty to the party who believed they were doing the right thing when they put up a ticket before the people. Its candidates are Democrats whom we all respect and esteem as such. It is not a question of loyalty to party, but of policy, which some Democrats are discussing in this campaign."

"It is possible that the present Democratic campaign may in effect be of more advantage to our old enemy, the Republican party, than to our own."

"The question is, do we want the Republican ticket elected in this campaign? This is the material question we, as voters, should be thinking about, not only to consider but to discuss."

"I believe the Republican party will lose in this fight. I did not think so ten days ago, but since then a great change has taken place in the minds of the people, and the Republican managers themselves are now saying that they are in a contest with the Democrats."

"The American citizen is a great admirer of fair play, and he abhors villification, abuse and scandal, in politics as in any other controversy."

"The Republicans have summoned to their aid in this campaign notorious gamblers, liars and parasites. They have called upon the best of our standing men and liars as Pete Kline and Nels Acers to testify that Governor Lewelling and his associates are not fit to administer the laws of the state of Kansas."

"Kline, Acers and their kind live by law-breaking; then they tell this people they have been called to corrupt this state administration to their own baseness. To an unprejudiced mind it would seem that law breakers who thrive by law-breaking would prefer the continuance in office of corrupt men such as they claim Lewelling and his associates to be, that they might go on in their nefarious business."

"Now no fair minded man would believe all this rot. Kline and Acers make these statements for money. They have been used by the Republican managers to slander and vilify men whom I know to be honest and upright. There are no more men than Governor Lewelling, Attorney General Little and Fred Close."

"Such infamy as the Republican managers and their partners Kline and Acers have employed and are employing in this fight on this administration ought to be and will be resented at the polls. These are some of the reasons why I believe the Republicans will be defeated in this campaign. Personally, I wish for the election of Overmyer and hope the Republicans will be third in the race."

GONE TO THE JURY.

The Arguments Made Today in the Whiting Damage Case.

The case of Kate and Grace Whiting against the Topeka Water Supply company for $55,000 damages for the death of their mother, went to the jury at noon today. The jury went to the scene of the runaway caused by the running hydrant, at Fourteenth and Western avenue, yesterday afternoon, and today the lawyers made their arguments in the case.

Captain J. G. Waters made the opening address for the plaintiff, and it was one of his most striking efforts ever made in the dingy old courtroom.

He was followed by Dave Mulvane for the water company. Mr. Mulvane admitted from the start that the eloquence and beauty were against them while they were called upon to defend a "soulless corporation." He was followed by Mr. Leonard for the defense, and Ed Hilton made the closing argument for the young ladies.

ARREST CARL BROWNE

For Driving Through Wall Street in a Wagon.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A so-called Coxey army parade, consisting of about eight ragged men with a wagon, went through Wall street today. The wagon was preceded by the leader, Carl Browne.

Browne was arrested by a Central office detective and taken to police headquarters.

JUDGE TRUMBULL FEARS.

"Unless Something is Done There Will Be Trouble."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Judge Lyman Trumbull is here on business with the supreme court.

Judge Trumbull was asked whether he would be a candidate for the senate and whether he had really joined the Populist party.

"I am not a candidate for the senate," he replied. "I would not want to come to the senate. I am not a candidate for any political office. I have gotten past all that. I am too old. I am entirely out of touch with the people."

Continuing he said that his recent speech was made at a Populist mass meeting because he had something to say to the Populists. "I thought I could reach the masses more easily by speaking where and when I did than by addressing either of the old parties. A spirit of unrest pervades the people, a feeling of dissatisfaction. Unless something is done there will be trouble. I said so in my speech and have nothing to add."

LYNCHED BY A MOB.

A Colored Assaulter Taken from Jail in Maryland and Hanged.

UPPER MERIBRO, Md., Oct. 20.—Just before daylight forty masked men came up to the jail and demanded the negro who had confessed to attempted assault on J. J. Spicer, a white man, who had offered resistance, refused to give up the keys. He was however, finally overpowered and Williams was taken to a bridge near town and hanged. A bullet hole was also found near his heart. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that Williams met his death at the hands of unknown parties.

RECEPTION TO SULLIVAN.

Boston Sports Making Preparations to Give Him a Big Time.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—"Mysterious" Billy Smith, the middleweight, today announced that if he is victorious in his meeting with O'Brien in this city on October 29, he will come to Boston to meet Joe Wolcott, the colored fighter, for $2,500 a side.

TILLMANISM IN GERMANY.

Government May Take Charge of the Entire Liquor Business.

VIENNA, Oct. 20.—In the reichsrath today Herr von Planer introduced a bill providing for a monopoly by the state of the refining and sale of spirits. Herr von Planer argued, in support of the measure, that it would prevent the people from being poisoned by poor alcohols, and would, besides, augment the revenue of the state. According to the terms of the bill, the production of raw spirits is left to private enterprise, but producers are only allowed to sell to the state.

HURRYING TO EUROPE.

Geo. R. Peck and Dr. Hogeboom Start for Mrs. Peck's Bedside.

Mrs. George R. Peck, who was announced a few days ago to be seriously ill at Geneva, Switzerland, is now said to have become worse and her condition is so dangerous that Mr. Peck has been sent for.

Mr. Peck and Dr. George W. Hogeboom will leave Chicago tomorrow for Europe and their journey to Mrs. Peck's bedside will be as speedy as possible.

Mr. Peck has been enjoying good health lately but the news of the serious condition of Mrs. Peck has almost totally unfitted him for business and even before he was summoned to Europe he planned to go there and stay until there should be an improvement in his wife's condition.

On account of Mrs. Peck's absence the legal business of the company at the annual meeting next week will be in the hands of Mr. D. E. Kenna, general licensor of the Frisco system, who, by the consent of the receivers, has been designated to assume Mr. Peck's duties during the latter's absence in Europe.

JAMES A. FROUDE DEAD

The English Historian Passed Away This Morning.

He Had Been Failing for Some Time.

BEST KNOWN WORK.

Made His Reputation on a History of England.

Visited the United States in 1872 on a Lecturing Tour.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—James Anthony Froude, the historian, died at 6:30 o'clock this morning. James Anthony Froude, L. D., youngest son of the late venerable R. H. Froude, archdeacon of Tetnes, was born at Darlington, Devonshire, April 23, 1818, and was educated at Westminster and at Oriel college, Oxford, where he was graduated in 1840. In 1842 he became a fellow of Exeter college.

He was ordained a deacon in the Church of England in 1844. His theological writings were condemned by the university authorities and he accepted an appointment which he had received to a teachership in the Eastman. It was in 1856 that he published the first two volumes of his "History of England from the fall of Wolsey to the defeat of the Spanish armada."

The twelfth volume appeared in 1870. In the autumn of 1872 Mr. Froude visited the United States and delivered a series of lectures on the relations between Great Britain and Ireland taking the position that the Irish were themselves to blame for a large proportion of the difficulties in which their country had been involved because of their own internal jealousy. During the last year of his life he devoted most of his time and attention to the writing of books, acting as the editor of several magazines. His health has been gradually failing and he has been unable to move about his house and garden since last September.

AFTER SUNDAY PAPERS.

Theo. L. Cuyler Says There is no Reason Why They Should Have Them.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The New York State Sabbath association held its third annual meeting last night in Brooklyn. Among the other things which the association is trying to bring about is the abolition of all Sunday traffic. The address on the Sunday newspapers will be delivered by Theo. L. Cuyler, who announced himself a true friend of the daily press which he held responsible for much of the good accomplished in the world, and thought that all Christians should unite in demanding the suppression of the Sunday paper.

"Why," asked he, "should the newspapermen be allowed to carry on their business when all other trades are required to suspend trade on Sunday?"

"There is no need of the Sunday press. We get along very well without it on the older days and we can again. What is there is no reason we should have the Sunday paper there are many reasons why we should be delivered from them, for the cleanest paper issued contains sporting and other topics which are not subject for consideration on the Sabbath. Too many of our citizens have to fight parishioners from under the avalanche of blank sheets which every Sabbath are launched upon the public."

PENCE'S NAME CAN'T GO ON.

Mandamus Issued Keeping His Name Off the Democratic Ticket in Colorado.

DENVER, Oct. 20.—The district court today decided that John T. Bottom is the regular Democratic nominee for congress in the First district, and issued a writ of mandamus requiring Secretary of State McClees to have Bottom's name placed under the Democratic emblem, the roster, instead of that of Congressman Pence.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Newman E. Erb, receiver of Coffin & Stanton, says that the statement of assets and liabilities of the company will not be completed today as was expected. They will be filed with the court or published until Monday week as he will not return from the Acheson meeting until that date. In the meantime he will give creditors access to the reports as fast as they have been completed.

MORTON NEEDN'T MIND.

The Law Will Probably Be Not Enforced Against a Contested Man.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Secretary Carlisle today received a telegram from General Tracey, counsel for Howard, Mr. Morton's under-coachman, calling attention to Judge Lacombe's decision yesterday and asking that Howard be released from custody.

The secretary said that he had referred the whole matter to the special board of inquiry at Ellis Island for investigation and that no action would be taken pending the receipt of the report. It seems possible that in view of Judge Lacombe's decision, no action will be taken against Mr. Morton.

CITY ENGINEERSHIP.

Asa Bunn, of Penitentiary Farm, Wants Mayor Harrison Returned Today from Kansas City.

Mayor Harrison returned today from Kansas City. He says he has not decided whom he will appoint city engineer.

There is a new applicant from an unexpected source. Asa Bunn, the discharged penitentiary mine superintendent, is the applicant. He is the man who led the fight on Warden Dick Chaney, and is now one of the supporters of the Bennington-Corning ticket. He thinks that he should be rewarded for his fight against the Populists, and naturally expects his reward from a Republican mayor.

LOCAL MENTION.

The temperature today was 80° above.

The London case will have to be tried again. Last evening the jury had failed to agree upon a verdict and Justice Grover discharged it. The case was then reset for hearing on Monday the 29th at 9 o'clock a. m. The jury stood six to six. The costs in the case have already amounted to $125.

AS BAD AS JERRY SIMPSON.

A Congressional Candidate Goes About Wrapped in a United States Flag.

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 20.—North Dakota has a congressional candidate who has been dubbed "The Sage of Buxton," as a congressional nominee. Reeve was nominated, though the action was immediately rescinded.

Reeve then became the "anti-fusion Democratic" candidate by petition. He opened his campaign in Fargo last night. He is touring the state on horseback, the horse being presented by Buxton people. Reeve travels the country wrapped in a huge American flag and on his shoulders perches an American eagle. Accompanying him is a Scotch collie dog acting as master of ceremonies.

Reeve receives an ovation at every town he visits. The dog marches at the head of the procession wearing a banner on which is inscribed: "This animal is no politician but he knows better than to fuse with animals antagonistic to his nature."

The General is Greeted by Large Gatherings at Every Stop.

WARSAW, Ind., Oct. 20.—Gen. Harrison had bright weather today to continue his speech-making trip. The first stop was at Columbia City, on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago. The little town had on its best bib and tucker and there was display of red, white and blue, there was music and enthusiastic words. Gen. Harrison spoke about fifteen minutes.

He quoted Andrew Jackson in favor of a tariff which embraces the design of fostering protection and preserving within ourselves the means of national defense and independence, particularly in a state of war.

After several extra stops which were not down on the schedule, the train arrived at Warsaw at 10:45. About 2,000 people were waiting round the stand near the track. Gen. Harrison spoke about fifteen minutes, and then returned to his train. His remarks were cordially received.
